The “WHY” of Lay Mission Training

“Outside the church and outside the box!”

Does your church walls seem to limit your desire and passion to grow and serve in mission/ministry to fight poverty, disease, violence, homelessness, loneliness, and fear? Do you believe God has planted a seed in you to help lives that have been ravaged by addiction, broken through strained relationships, crippled by illiteracy, hopeless due to unwanted pregnancy, blighted by abuse and unworthy due to gross materialism? Do you have a heart for those living in such an environment that is possibly just outside the door of your church or around the corner in your community?

Perhaps you are trying to determine if you are ready to assume the responsibility of a new and exciting ministry in your community or in another country. If so, you should take advantage of the opportunity that Lay Mission Training offers.

Many programs equip laity to serve in local churches. LMT’s unique focus is on training laity to serve outside the walls of the church. “A ministry outside the church and outside the box.” It’s for pioneers, innovators, and persons with a mission heart and a desire to serve.
